TemperVox Ltd is a group of vocal practitioners all of whom have a professional basis within the performing arts industry and voice coaching. Gemma & Leon both trained originally as professional actors and through their freelance vocal practitioner work with theatres, drama schools, solicitors, EFL (English as a Foreign Language) students, NHS workers & teachers they realised that performance techniques & voice work extend so much further than just the stage. Our mission is to help professionals to achieve their vocal goals by giving them the appropriate vocal training. Being an effective communicator can help you in so many different walks of life from inspiring your students or council, winning pitches, or as simple as being clearly understood by your colleagues. We are especially experienced in working with teachers & have worked with Voice, The Union (formerly P.A.T.), Babcock4S (formerly VTFourS) & are recommended practitioners for the N.U.T.
